ARCHAEOLOGY – HISTORY LECTURE SERIES
WINTER 2024

Monday, January 22- Ian Evans, Adventurer, Award Winning Documentary Producer, Elora Adventure Film Festival Founder

AGAINST THE ODDS: OTTO NORDENSKJOLD'S ILL-FATED 1901-1904 ANTARCTIC ADVENTURE

Many have heard of the Gerlache crew surviving the first winter in Antarctica and Shackleton's improbable return when his ship Endurance sank in the Weddel Sea. While the 1901 Swedish expedition of Otto Nordenskjold may be less well known, it has all the ingredients of these more famous survival stories. When things went wrong in Antarctica in those times and there was no hope of communication, loss of life was the usual outcome. Despite extraordinary scientific discoveries, Nordenskjold's men only survived by a series of unlikely coincidences.

Monday, January 29- Dr. Scott Gallimore, Assoc. Prof., Chair, Department of Archaeology and Classical Studies, Wilfrid Laurier University

WHEN THE WORLD SHOOK: A SEISMIC HAZARD APPROACH TO THE A.D. 365 EARTHQUAKE ON THE GREEK ISLAND OF CRETE

On July 21st, A.D. 365 an earthquake estimated at 8.5 on the Richter Scale, the largest quake ever documented in the Mediterranean, struck the island of Crete. This earthquake also caused a massive tsunami that struck shorelines across the Mediterranean. In this talk, we will use a seismic hazard approach that is typically applied to modern disasters as a way to develop risk mitigation strategies. It provides an excellent way to assess the specific vulnerabilities that led to destruction and transformation on the island of Crete.

Monday, February 5- Dr. Debra Foran, Assist. Prof., Department of Archaeology and Heritage Studies, Wilfrid Laurier University

BEAUTY IN THE EYE OF THE BEHOLDER: ICONOCLASM AND THE BYZANTINE MOSAICS OF JORDAN

The Byzantine period in Jordan is best known for its colourful mosaics that adorned the many churches that were built across the region. During the 8th century CE, many of these mosaics suffered iconoclastic damage, forever altering the images portrayed in these pavements. But the question remains, who damaged these pavements? Was it the Christian communities who worshipped in these churches or the new local Islamic rulers? This lecture will explore these questions through an examination of the beautiful Byzantine mosaics of Jordan

Monday, February 12- Dr. Bonnie Glencross, Assoc. Prof., Department of Archaeology and Heritage Studies, Wilfrid Laurier University

THE BIOARCHAEOLOGY OF NEOLITHIC ÇATALHÖYÜK IN TURKEY

Join us for the latest updates on the bioarchaeological investigation of the people and community of Neolithic Çatalhöyük. This large tell site is in south-central Turkey and dates to 7100-5950 BCE. The study of the human remains provide important insights on life and life style, community dynamics and behavioural adaptations made by this early farming community.

Monday, February 26- Dr. Kevin James, Scottish Studies Foundation Chair, Prof., Department of History, University of Guelph

SHIPBOARD LIFE IN TRANSATLANTIC TOURISM: HISTORICAL EXPERIENCES

In this talk, Kevin James explores travel diaries to identify distinctive mental and physical experiences of ocean travel, from emotional goodbyes at the pier to seasickness on-board, as passengers embarked upon transatlantic trips in the late nineteenth century.

Monday, March 4- Dr. Ben Bradley, Assist. Prof., Department of History, University of Guelph

BRITISH COLUMBIA BY THE ROAD: CAR CULTURE AND THE MAKING OF MODERN LANDSCAPES IN THE TWENTIETH CENTURY

Ben Bradley will take the audience on an unprecedented journey through the history of roads, highways, and motoring in British Columbia's interior, a remote landscape composed of plateaus and interlocking valleys, soaring mountains and treacherous passes. But there's more to the motoring than meets the eye. Hold on to your hats!!!

The cost of the series is $70.00 (plus HST). Lectures will begin at 7:30pm, ending at approx. 9:30pm. Lectures will be held at Centennial C.V.I., 289 College Ave. W., Guelph, Rm B104 (Lecture Room) PR- 7413.

Series Facilitators- Ken and JoAnne Oldridge
