Meet our special guest, Catherine Dang!

Catherine graduated from GCVI in 2016 and was awarded the University of Guelph President's Scholarship in 2016.

More recently she was a Princeton in Asia Scholar in 2021.

She has 4 years of experience on the President's & Chancellor's Scholarship Selection and Review Committee where she reviewed written applications and conducted interviews for University of Guelph President's scholars, Summerlee Scholars, and Rhode's nominees.

As head scholar in 2019 she also organized the scholar mentorship program at the University.

Meet our special guest, Raymond Tu!

Raymond graduated from GCVI in 2017 and was awarded the University of North Carolina's prestigious Morehead-Cain Scholarship.

He is attending McGill on a McCall MacBain Scholarship, a full-ride leadership scholarship for graduate and professional study.

He also received and deferred admission to the University of Western Ontario Schulich School of Medicine M.D. program, where he received a full-tuition scholarship.

About the Presentation

Catherine will be presenting key findings learned after 4 years of sitting on various scholarship committees about what makes a personal statement powerful, which reference letters are the most persuasive, and how to tell your story through interviews.

Catherine and Raymond will anonymously share past success stories of some of the best applicants they've seen and the techniques they used.

For this presentation, Catherine has consulted colleagues across multiple different scholarship review committees and collected their anonymous advice.

This presentation is truly for everybody - regardless if you plan to apply to scholarships - learning how to present yourself in an authentic way is an essential life skill!
