Edinburgh Road to Applewood Crescent

Notice date: March 22, 2016

---

Drexler Construction Limited, under contract to the City, is replacing the water main on Willow Road between Edinburgh Road and Applewood Crescent. This work is a required improvement to the City's water system. Final road reconstruction will include changing the road layout from four lanes to three, with the addition of on-road bicycle lanes.

Construction starts mid-April

The first phase of construction was completed in 2015. Construction on the second phase, from Guelph Street to Applewood Crescent (map on reverse), will start mid-April with completion expected by the end of August, weather permitting.

Lane reductions on Willow Road

Traffic on Willow Road will be reduced to one lane in each direction for the duration of the work.

About bike lanes

The Cycling Master Plan is a 10-year strategy to make cycling easier, safer and more accessible in Guelph by building a connected network of on- and off-road bike facilities throughout Guelph. It is part of the City of Guelph's efforts to support sustainable transportation, relieve traffic congestion, and make mobility accessible to all road users. Adding bike lanes will also help to make Willow Road a street that accommodates all road users, including public transit, cycling, pedestrians and vehicles.

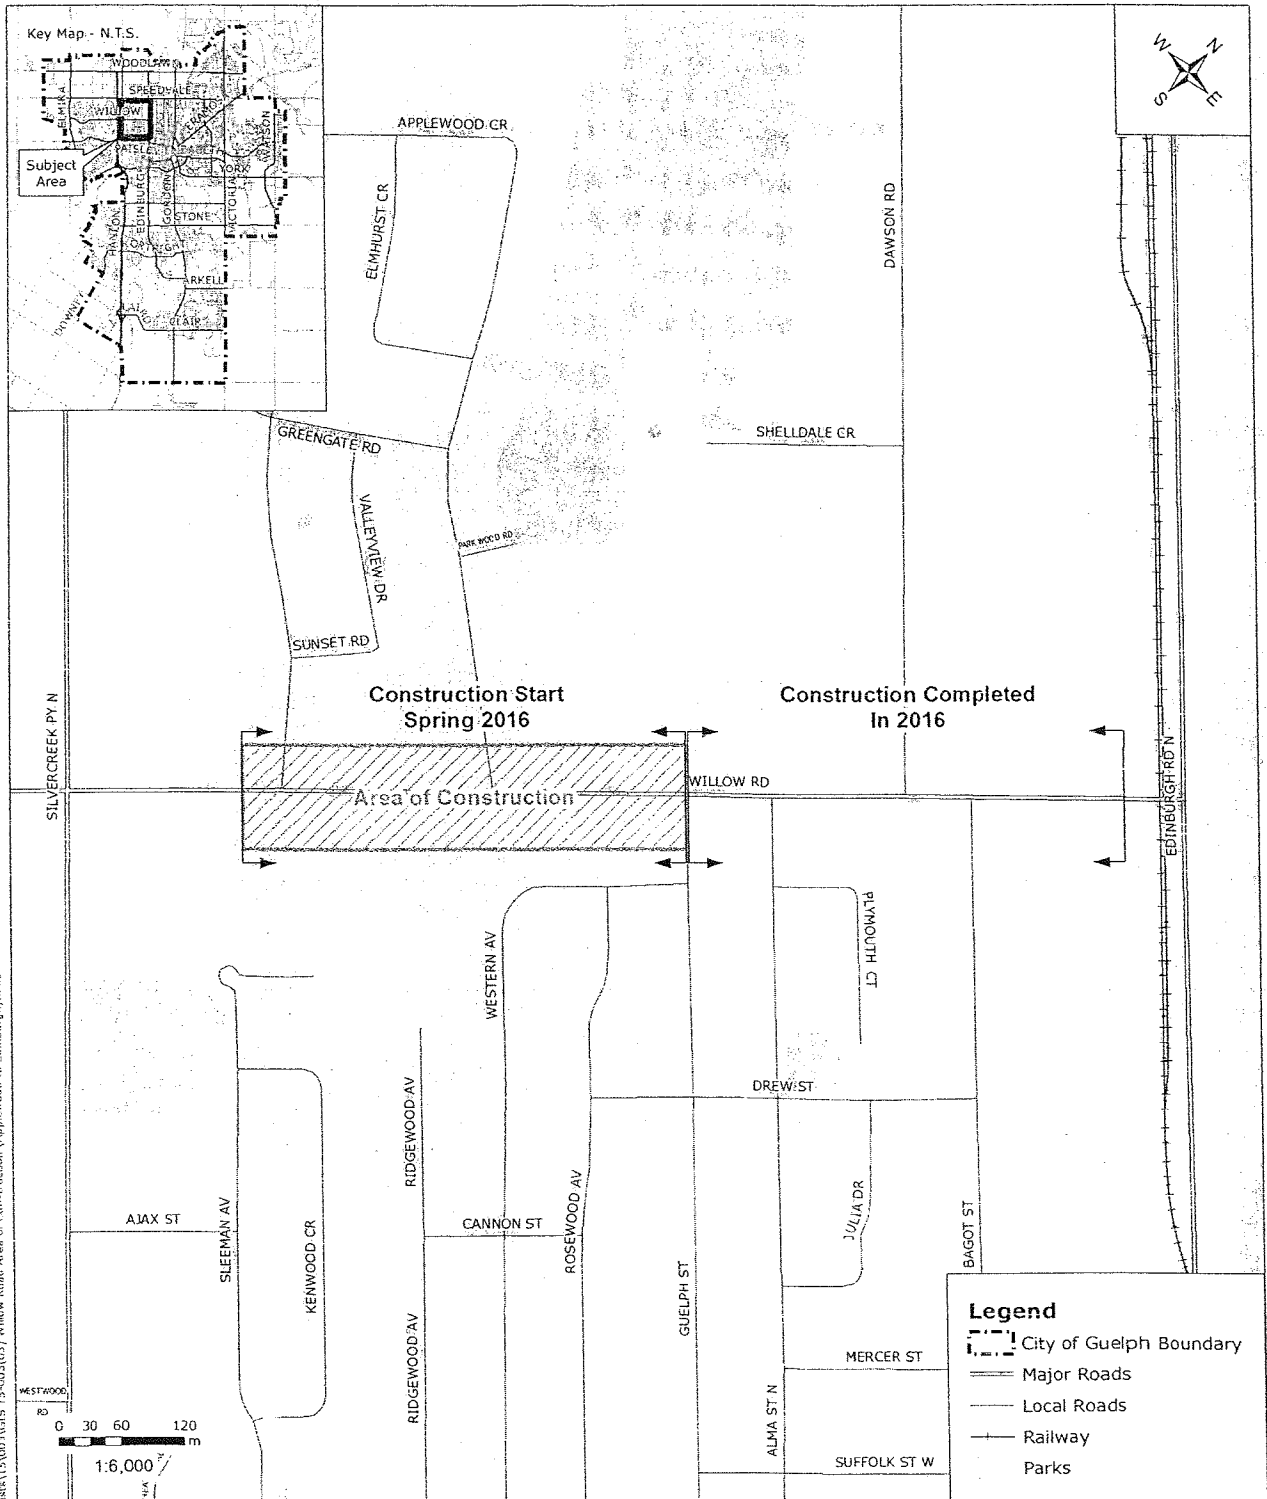

The City of Guelph appreciates your patience, understanding and co-operation during this important water and sewer infrastructure project. Further details and updates are available on the City's website at guelph.ca/construction.
